Dear Dr. Zhu:

Thank you for your recent submission to Water Resources Research (Optimizing the Implementation Orders of Watershed Best Management Practices with Time-varying Effectiveness under Stepwise Investment, [Paper # 2022WR032986R]).

However, we are unable to forward your paper to the Editor to start the peer review process until the following problems are corrected:

-Please ensure the author line order in the article file and the submission form match exactly.

- Please rename your data availability section "Open Research" and use in-text citations to cite your data if available. -For each data and software citation (e.g., DOI, URL) you have mentioned in your Open Research section, please create a Reference List entry that describes and links to the resource. Please include a bracketed description of the data or software object, for example [Dataset] or [Software], in the Reference List entries. For more information about how to cite your data and software in your References List, please see <https://data.agu.org/resources/availability-citation-checklist-for-authorsthis> page.

Please use the link below to access your manuscript and make the necessary modifications.
